Other reports dispensed with.

Fiscal term to end June 30, in odd years.

Number to be printed.

Distribution.

Sec. 1 The adjutant-general, the superintendent of public instruction, the state librarian, the wardens of the penitentiaries, the visiting committee to the hospitals for the insane, the fish commissioner, the superintendent of the weather-service, the state board of health, the commissioner of pharmacy, the state mine inspector, except all boards of commissioners having charge of the erections of public buildings, the board of curators of the state historical society, and all boards of trustees of state institutions, except the state agricultural college, shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August, preceding the regular sessions of the general assembly, make to the governor of the state a report of the condition and needs of the officers, institutions, and matters severally intrusted to their care, as well as of all other subjects, upon which reports are now by law required of such officers, boards, or commissions, and also a statement showing in detail the expenditure of all public moneys placed or coming into their hands, with each voucher or duplicate voucher for such expenditures, except where such voucher or duplicate is required to be furnished some state officer at more frequent intervals: Provided, that the reports hereby contemplated shall take the place of the various annual and biennial reports now required to be made by such officers, boards, or commissions, except the annual report on insurance.

Sec. 2. The biennial fiscal term of the state shall end on the 30th day of June, in 1883, and each odd-numbered year thereafter; and the succeeding term shall begin on the day following; and the reports of officers and institutions shall cover the period thus indicated, and shall show the condition of their offices and institutions respectively on that day: Provided, that this section shall not apply to the state agricultural college and farm.

The governor shall cause to be printed of the various public documents, as follows: Of the biennial message, twelve thousand copies; of the governor's inaugural address, six thousand copies; of the report of the auditor of state, ten thousand copies; of the report of the superintendent of public instruction, six thousand copies; of the report of the state agricultural college, six thousand copies; and of each of the other reports five thousand copies. The secretary of the state shall make distribution thereof as follows: To the members of the general assembly, eight thousand copies of the message, two thousand each of the inaugural address, the report of the auditor of state, and the report of the superintendent of public instruction, and two thousand copies of each of the other reports; fifteen hundred copies of the message, and five hundred copies of each of the other documents, to remain with the state, for the use of the future general assemblies and special calls therefor; fifteen hundred copies to be stitched and bound in boards in books containing a copy of each report, to be distributed as follows: one copy to each officer and member of the general assembly; one to each state officer; one to each state office to remain therein; one copy to each state institution to remain therein; one to each member of the several boards, and one to each officer of the institutions, who is required by law to make report, one copy to each district-judge, each circuit-judge, and each district-attorney; one to the office of the county auditor in every county to belong to said office; one copy to each newspaper in the state; eighty copies to the state historical society; a sufficient number to the secretary of state to enable that officer to make the distribution provided for in section 1898 of the code; and the remainder to be placed under the control of the executive council. The remaining unbound copies of the documents shall be distributed to the officers and institutions respectively making report.

Distribution of the bound documents;

of the remaining unbound documents.

Approved, April 5, 1882.
